

U.S. Plane Shot Down In Flames By Slavs; Await Tito's Answer

By GEORGE PALMER
Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 20 (P)—Diplomats looked to Marshal Tito himself today for an explanation of an eye-witness account describing how a large transport—believed to be a missing American C-47 plane—was shot down in flames by two Yugoslav fighter planes over the Julian Alps yesterday.

(In Washington, the U. S. State Department, revealing a state of near war between American and Yugoslav troops at Trieste, accused Yugoslav forces of making illegal forays into the American occupation zone and of unprovoked attacks on American soldiers.

(The British Foreign Office in London said that it had protested in the strongest terms against invasion of the Allied zone and attacks on British and American troops.)

Second in Month
The transport was the second U. S. craft reported missing over Yugoslavia this month, on the Vienna to Udine, Italy, run of the European Air Transport Service. The other, also a C-47, was forced to land under gunfire on August 9.

The eyewitness, whose reliability is unquestioned, said the two fighters closed in on the transport yesterday morning southwest of Klagenfurt, Austria, 14 miles north of the Yugoslav border.

(This dispatch did not state whether the attack occurred over Austrian or Yugoslav territory. The area is near the zone "B" border in the region where Yugoslavia joins northward to join Italy and Austria.)

Two Parachutes
The witness said the transport was seen to "spiral to the ground in a column of black smoke," and that at least two persons parachuted.

Four or five cannon shots were heard from the ground near the Yugoslav summer resort of Bled, where Marshal Tito was reported to be vacationing, the witness added.

The plummeting plane disappeared in the mountains and "then we saw a big column of smoke appear, indicating that the plane had exploded," he said. The Yugoslav army immediately began a thorough search, the informant added.

The area is approximately 25 miles from the place where the other American C-47 was forced down by gunfire, 11 days ago. One passenger of that transport was seriously wounded.

Message From Plane
(A report telephoned to Vienna said that the airport at Udine, destination of the plane, picked up a call yesterday from the pilot of the missing transport saying that he was under attack by a fighter plane in Klagenfurt corridor just north of Yugoslavia. The radio then went dead.

(A Trieste dispatch said the plane left Vienna yesterday morning but failed to arrive at Udine, in the Allied-occupied zone "A" of Venezia Giulia. The flight normally takes about two hours.

(Allied headquarters in Caserta received a message from the plane that it was "being fired upon by tracer bullets and anti-aircraft fire.")

Littlestown Warns About Weed Cutting

Many property-holders are violating the borough ordinance requiring the cutting of weeds, according to a statement issued by Burgess Charles R. Mehring. Several also have failed to trim trees overhanging the pavements to the required height, which is a violation also of a borough ordinance. If the weeds are not cut and the trees trimmed by the property-owners, the borough ordinance provides that this work shall be done by the borough, and the bill sent to the property-owner, with 20 per cent added. The Burgess requests that all property-owners cooperate by having this work done in the near future.

The Golden Deeds Sunday School class of St. John's Lutheran Church will hold its monthly meeting this evening at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Heiser.

Kenneth Halter, an employee of the Stanley Stover Electrical store, is spending his vacation in Battle Creek, Mich., and Chicago, Ill. He will visit former buddies in the Army at these two places.

Mrs. George Buddy has returned home after a visit in New York city. Mrs. Myrtle Kroh, Mrs. Karl Bankert and sons, Karl and Richard; Mrs. Harry Koonitz and Donna Lou Milio, spent Thursday in Selinsgrove with Mrs. Kroh's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fasold. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Charlotte Milio, who had spent several days at the Fasold home.

SAYS LINCOLN HIGHWAY TOWNS MAY BE RUINED

Urging communities along the Lincoln Highway to become exercised over potential extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike at the expense of existing primary roads, Vice President Henry M. Scharf of the Pennsylvania Free Roads Association warned Monday that apathy will result in relegation of Route 30 towns to places of secondary importance.

Addressing a conference of Chambersburg Motor Club and Chamber of Commerce representatives at the motor club offices in Chambersburg Monday, Scharf said he and other representatives of the free roads organization are touring Lincoln Highway communities in the interest of awakening them to the need of action at the local level to bring about improvement of Route 30.

Accompanying Mr. Scharf, were Howard L. Mittinger, of Gettysburg, field secretary of the PPRA, and Sylvan Lebow, Harrisburg, public relations counselor of the organization.

Equitable Construction
Pointing out that the PPRA is interested in equitable road construction, Scharf asserted that unless the people directly concerned abandon their lethargy the Lincoln Highway is doomed as a primary road. He added that no community has done more in tackling the problem than has Chambersburg through its motor club.

Scharf contended that unless the Lincoln Highway is reconstructed before the turnpike is extended eastward and westward, it will be maintained only as surveys of the decreased traffic indicate. Enlargement of the turnpike, without improvement of the Lincoln Highway first, will bring about shifting of arterial travel northward of Route 30 communities, he declared.

"Analyses of the Public Roads Administration show," Scharf said, "that toll roads, except in a very few locations, cannot pay on their own merits and must have large governmental subsidies. The federal grant or subsidy on the Pennsylvania Turnpike was 45 per cent.

Requires Subsidy
"The same firm of traffic experts who compiled and furnished the basic data on the Pennsylvania Turnpike prepared a traffic and earnings survey of its eastern extension toward Philadelphia. In their (Please Turn to Page 2)

U.S., Britain Ready For Test On Dardanelles Issue
Washington, Aug. 20 (P)—The United States and Great Britain have decided to meet Russia squarely on the issue of the Dardanelles.

In a cards on the table gesture, this country already has informed Moscow that it is flatly opposed to Soviet demands for a voice in the military control of that highly important water link between the Mediterranean and the Black Sea.

Furthermore, diplomatic officials who reported this action said Great Britain will take the same step, if she hasn't already done so.

Thus the two big western powers are siding firmly with Turkey, current guardian of the Dardanelles, upon whom Russia has served two highly unpalatable demands:

1. That the Straits should be jointly defended by Turkish and Soviet forces, and

2. That future control policies should be laid down by agreement among the Black Sea powers alone.

To the first demand this country is said to have objected on the ground that it virtually would mean granting the Soviet union military bases in the straits.

And because Turkey and Russia are the principal Black Sea powers, the second point reportedly was rejected because of fears that Russia would be able to dominate the smaller nation on any major issue.

However, the American note which Fedor Orekhov, Soviet Charge d'Affairs, was handed at the State Department yesterday leaves the way open for Moscow to negotiate for free rights to the straits—with American support.

The Montreaux treaty which governs control of the waterway currently gives Turkey the right to bar passage of warships of any country during time of war.

Secretary of State Byrnes, however, has declared that the United States is willing to back Russia in any request for unlimited transit rights for her war and merchant ships at all times.

This presumably is what the state department had in mind in advising Orekhov that the United States would be happy to attend any international conference called to consider revising the Montreaux treaty.

Lions Clubs Conduct Joint Meet Monday

More than 60 members and guests of the Gettysburg and Fairfield Lions clubs attended a joint meeting of the clubs Monday evening at Woodlawn park, Lincolnway west, Monday evening with Milton R. Remmel, president of the Gettysburg club presiding. There were guests from Manhattan, Kansas; Lewisburg, Waynesboro and Biglerville. Ten members of the Fairfield club attended.

President Charles Turner of the Fairfield club spoke briefly. Softball and horseshoe pitching furnished amusement before and after the club session.

Next week the Gettysburg club will go to the mountain lodge of a group of its members for the weekly session. No meeting will be held the following Monday, Labor Day, and a Ladies' Night program has been announced for September 16 at Mt. Joy parish house.

NEW FACTORY EXPECTS TO BE READY OCT. 15

Provided all goes well from here on, the local Inductive Equipment Corporation should be in its own building and operating with about 50 or 60 employees by October 15, John Gaston, head of the company, told the local Rotary club at its meeting Monday evening at the YWCA.

The difficulties of starting a new company during the current days of shortages were outlined by Gaston during the course of his talk on the prospects for the borough's newest industry.

Under ordinary circumstances a plant similar to the one being constructed in the brick yard site should be put up within eight to ten weeks, the industrialist said. However, the local company ran into the shortage difficulty shortly after it began.

Despite other shortages, he said, the Inductive Equipment company was able to secure some of the best technicians in the country and since that time has been able to obtain nearly all of the equipment needed for the plant.

Most critical shortage was copper and with strikes halting the production of copper in many plants, the shortage was expected to continue acute. However, Gaston said, the company now holds a sufficient supply of the material.

Steel for the building is on its way now and by September 1 construction should be well underway at the plant, he added.

SEEK TO ENROLL COUNTY VOTERS

Efforts of both the Republicans and the Democrats to get out a large registration of voters for the election this fall are expected to result in a registration spurt at the county commissioners' office and at the special registration places very soon.

CAPTAIN AND WOMAN ENTER GUILTY PLEAS

An army captain, James R. Rich, Carlisle Barracks, against whom three charges were filed following an accident at South Washington and High streets Saturday night, and his companion, Mrs. Doris Jones, Dilley, Tex., who also faced three charges, entered guilty pleas at a hearing Monday night before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

Rich was held for sentence court by Squire Snyder after signing a plea of guilty to driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Bail was fixed at $1,000, but Rich elected to go back to the Adams county jail before throwing himself on the mercy of the court August 31.

He pleaded guilty also to two other charges, disorderly conduct and driving an automobile without an operator's license and was fined $10 and costs on each charge. He paid the fines. Rich said he had held an operator's license in Ohio before entering the army, but was unable to produce it at the hearing.

Woman Also Pleads
Mrs. Jones, widow of an army officer killed in World War II, and owner of the automobile Rich was driving when he crashed into an automobile operated by Frederick C. Spaulding, Littlestown, pleaded guilty and was held for court on two charges, permitting an intoxicated driver to operate her car, and illegal possession of a firearm. She also entered a guilty plea to a disorderly conduct charge, and paid a fine of $10 and costs for this offense.

A fully-loaded .22 calibre pistol was found on the floor of her automobile. She admitted possession of the gun, but said it was not hers. She did not divulge the name of the owner.

Mrs. Jones furnished bail of $500 on each of the two court charges and was released. Her 14-months-old child, who was in the automobile at the time of the accident, was returned to her. It had been in the custody of the Adams County Child Welfare Service after Mrs. Jones' arrest shortly before noon Monday.

Polish Delegate Says His Nation Fought Italy

Paris, Aug. 20 (P)—Poland urged a peace conference committee today to reject as "completely unfounded" an Italian declaration that Italy had not been at war with all the 21 conference nations, notably Poland, Belgium, the Netherlands and Czechoslovakia.

"Poland was at war with Italy," said a Polish delegate. "Polish soldiers fought in North Africa and Italy. Polish soldiers were killed by Italian bullets. Was this a state of war or a state of peace?"

Belgium, Yugoslavia and the Netherlands likewise challenged the Italian claim, which was presented in a proposed amendment to the preamble of the Italian treaty taken up by the Italian political and territorial committee. Italy suggested that a statement in the preamble that Italy was at war "with all" Allied powers be altered to read "some" of the conference nations.

The memorandum suggested also that a sentence saying "Italy, under the Fascist regime, became a party to the Tripartite pact" be amended to read: "Italy was led by the Fascist regime to become a party to the Tripartite pact."

The memorandum criticized the omission of any reference to what it called "the active role played by

STARVATION AND DISEASE STALK IN RIOT'S WAKE

Calcutta, Aug. 20 (P)—Military and police units, working their way through the blood-stained streets of Calcutta, restored a measure of order today in this weary city where an estimated 3,000 men, women and children were killed in four days of fighting between Hindus and Moslems.

Shaking off the terror and hysteria which had gripped them since last Friday, the more than 2,000,000 inhabitants of the city found they faced the threat of starvation and disease.

Calcutta's food distribution system has been thrown so badly out of gear that many of the poorer residents have been without food for days.

Search for Food
The soldiers and police were touring the streets not only to prevent fresh outbreaks but also for food. Fresh vegetable and fruit stalls in new market, the largest in the city, were damaged in the disorders.

Some sections of the market have reopened, but the limited supply of commodities were selling high above normal prices. Eggs, for example, were priced at 16 cents apiece.

Well dressed men and women mingled with servants in lines before bakeries which were limiting each customer to one loaf of bread. Smaller bakeries sold out their supplies less than an hour after their bread was offered for sale. Only residents were served meals at hotels.

Atrocities Stories
Health authorities feared disease would be raging before disposal squads could complete the removal of the piles of torn, bloated bodies which littered the streets.

Distraught refugees by the thousands streamed into rescue and police stations seeking rest and safety.

The state government of Bengal said that the bloodiest rioting in the violent history of Calcutta was "definitely under control." The first official report on casualties listed the dead at more than 2,000. Unofficial accounts placed the toll at 3,000. So confused and widespread was the fighting that an exact tabulation of casualties many never be made.

Police still brought in tales of atrocities. In the bustee (tenement) area alone, hundreds of men, women and children were butchered, mutilated or burned to death in the disorders touched off by disagreements between Hindus and Moslems over plans for India's independence.

TITO AND SLAVS UNDER RED YOKE HAVE JITTERS --

By Dewitt Mackenzie (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

One of the strange developments of these days of phenomena is the hostility which Yugoslavia has been displaying recently towards America, as witness current events.

The United States has sent two blistering notes to the Yugoslav government, charging, among other things, that on July 12 Yugoslav troops illegally entered the Allied zone around Trieste and fired without provocation upon American forces investigating their presence. Washington also emphatically rejects the Yugoslav claim that the United States was responsible for the incident.

Simultaneously with the disclosure about these notes, news came from Trieste that an American transport plane was missing after reporting that it was under tracer bullet and anti-aircraft fire somewhere near the Yugoslav frontier. Only ten days earlier an American C-47 transport, which had become lost in a storm, was forced down over Yugoslav territory by fighter planes which machine-gunned it. The crew and passengers—one of the latter being wounded—were interned and held incommunicado until last week-end when U. S. authorities finally were permitted to see them.

"Wicked" Attack

U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson denounced the incident as "a wicked, inexcusable and deliberate attack on a friendly nation's airplane." He declared that "only by the grace of God and the expertise of the pilot" did the crew and passengers escape death.

Well now, why should a supposed friendly Yugoslavia—whom we aided and for whom we fought in the war—now suddenly subject us to the all too familiar direct-action tactics which have been cropping up in various parts of the world? We can, of course, dismiss as poppy-cock any idea that Yugoslav sovereignty has been impinged on. However, the Yugoslavs—like most of their Balkan brethren—are tough and they are mighty suspicious, as I have discovered in touring those regions. Therefore we must make allowance for the possibility that Marshal Tito's government, being suspicious, is suffering from the Balkan jitters.

War Is Absurd

Naturally, too, we can't overlook that strong language and stronger blows could have been exchanged between Yugoslavia and Italy over the Trieste zone. Could it be that Yugoslavia has secrets which she wishes to conceal from prying eyes? The only answer to this is that it obviously is possible, though there is no concrete evidence that Belgrade has anything to hide.

We can wash out one thing, and this is any thought that Yugoslavia is trying to "start something" with Uncle Sam. That would be absurd. Still, it's quite in the cards that Belgrade is putting on a show of toughness in an effort to better her position in the Trieste dispute. Direct action again!

One of the most impressive aspects of this situation lies in the fact that Yugoslavia is very much in Russia's pocket. All indications long have been that Marshal Tito constantly seeks Moscow's guidance and would as soon cut off his right arm as go contrary to Soviet wishes.

Brady fled to the locomotive steps and escaped further burns. The train was held up two hours until a new locomotive could be sent.

FEW DROPS FOR DOBBIN

New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—If New Yorkers don't quit mistaking the city's troughs, says the ASPCA, poor Dobbin won't be able to enjoy a clean drink of water.

The society's inspector of troughs reports he is always collaring folks washing fish and some people use the troughs for laundry, leaving tell-tale soap suds.

Goat herding is limited in the United States because Americans prefer beef, pork, and lamb.

HOUSE SEATS UP TO VOTERS

(By The Associated Press)

New York's primary elections, involving 21 Congressional contests, held the political spotlight today and the outcome may furnish an answer to the question of whether the recent trend in which midwestern incumbents were unseated will spread to the east.

Prospective candidates for governor and U. S. Senate did not figure directly in the voting as nominees for these offices will be selected next month at state party conventions.

However, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, virtually certain to be "drafted" for re-election by the Republican state convention, made his influence felt in three hot Congressional contests.

Elsewhere today, Senator James M. Tamm and Rep. Philip A. Traynor, were expected to be re-nominated by the Delaware Democratic convention.

In Utah, Republicans voted in a runoff primary on Arthur Watkins, Orem Attorney and William L. Baker, Provo construction engineer for the Senatorial nomination to oppose Abe Murdock, Democratic incumbent.

LEARN TONIGHT ABOUT PRICES

Washington, Aug. 20 (AP)—The nation learns tonight whether such major dinner-table items as meats, milk and butter are going back under price ceilings.

As the climax of nine days of searching study, the price decontrol board will announce its decision at about 7 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time).

The board plans to say whether ceilings will be restored on livestock, dairy products, grains, cotton seed, soy beans and hundreds of products derived from these basic commodities.

At 9 p. m. (EST), the three members will explain in an all-network radio broadcast why they decided as they did.

However, even if the board orders controls re-established on any of the items involved, the new ceilings will not become effective until Friday, OPA Boss Paul Porter announced last night.

"We do not know what the board's decision will be," Porter said in a statement.

SAYS LINCOLN

report they state frankly that this extension would have to be subsidized for one-half of its cost to be a paying proposition, with the further provision that parallel public highways are not to be improved so as to provide competition.

Scharf asserted powerful factors are at work to bring about extension of the State turnpike. He added that he didn't know who the primary movers of the campaign were, but that they were exerting pressure to make the extension a reality.

"Continued apathy (among Route 30 communities) will lead to one principal road for Pennsylvania, and it will not be the Lincoln Highway," he commented.

Scharf reported that his organization has received sympathetic ears at Harrisburg for its free roads program, but no contracts. He added that the political platforms of the two major parties contain no practical provisions for modernization of existing primary highways.

Protest Toll Route

Scharf recalled that on July 2 he had written a letter to the House committee on roads at Washington expressing the PPFA protest against a measure which would authorize formation of the Transcontinental Streamlined Highway Corporation of the United States for the purpose of constructing a twelve billion dollar system of toll highways over a five-year period.

Scharf said he wrote that "we are fighting efforts now being made to facilitate the monopolization of traffic into toll highways at the expense of failure to improve existing primary highway systems."

Discussion brought out that 53 percent of the people of Pennsylvania are served by the Lincoln Highway.

Already pressured by Philadelphia and other interested forces in extension of the turnpike, the State government, Scharf said, has in effect called upon Lincoln Highway communities for a show of strength.

Three Million Bu. Of Wheat Stored In Open

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 20 (AP)—

Three million bushels of wheat in the Pacific northwest, left begging for storage space because of an unprecedented crop and a shortage of railroad cars, are being piled in great mounds on the ground at the mercy of the weather, a survey disclosed today.

In the Big Bend country and other eastern Washington areas where the harvest is nearing its finish, railroad sources said 2,000,000 bushels of grain have been spilled out in the open near elevators along their rights of way alone. In Umatilla, Ore., 60,000 bushels lie on the ground and 50,000 have been piled in flat warehouses.

The storage problem arose despite considerable building of elevators and the fact that all buildings had been emptied of grain this spring in the famine relief program.

One reason was the bumper crop. The Washington State Production and Marketing Administration estimated it will total at least one-fourth larger than the previous record crop of 1944.

What Is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

Thirty years ago, in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle found the answer to this question. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange Power that Knowledge gives.

That Power, he says, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong can be solved. In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition. Thirty years ago, he was sick as a man could be and live. Once his coffin was bought. Years of almost continuous tropical fevers, broken bones, near blindness, privation and danger had made a human wreck of him, physically and mentally.

He was about to be sent back to England to die, when a strange message came—"They are waiting for you in Tibet." He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the greatest mystic he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants everyone to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

Within ten years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the World's leading geographical societies, for his work as a geographer. And today, 30 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress toward the Power that Knowledge gives, Mr. Dingle wants to send to readers of this paper a 9,000-word treatise. He says the time has come for it to be released to the Western World, and offers to send it, free of cost or obligation, to sincere readers of this notice. For your free copy, address The Institute of Mental Physics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Department 433-A, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books has been printed.

Finalists in the four-team tournament for the championship of the Community Softball League may be decided Wednesday evening as the result of decisions gained Monday evening.

The Elks practically eliminated the Marketeers by scoring a 5-1 decision in the second game on the college field. The Marketeers jumped into a one-run lead in the third on Rider's single and an outfield error. The Elks bounced back with two runs in the fourth on an error, a fielder's choice and successive hits by Kane and Kitzmiller. The lodge-men put the clincher on the game in the sixth when the Marketeers' defense blew wide open to permit three tallies. Fair and Rupp composed the losing battery with Phiel and Herring as their winning opponents.

Aires Blow Up

For four innings it looked as though the West End Aires might pull a surprise against the Highway but a five-run attack in the top half of the fifth sewed up the game 5-2 for the roadmakers. The Aires scored a run in the first frame but in the fifth Donaldson, Rohrbaugh and Kennell lashed out successive singles. Two fielders' choices, a pair of errors and a base on balls followed to permit the runs. The Aires tallied in the last half of the frame on hits by Hughes, Kitzmiller and Tawney. Hedman and Stambaugh worked for the winners with Tawney and McCleat doing the chores for the losers.

The VFW gained a forfeit over the Ice and Storage on the high school field when the latter team failed to produce enough players to play a game. An impromptu game was staged with the Vets winning 4-0.

YOUNG SISLER HITTING AGAIN

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Dick Sisler, the forgotten man of the St. Louis Cardinals since his early season failure at first base, is changing the jeers to cheers at Sportsman's park with his clutch hitting in the Red Bird's drive to catch the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers, who lead by 1½ games.

The son of the great George Sisler started the campaign as the regular Cardinal first sacker, prompting Manager Eddie Dyer to okey the sale of Ray Sanders to Boston.

When Sisler failed to hit big league pitching, Dyer gave him a rest. Sisler "fopped" on a second try. Dyer tried him in left field August 9 and he has hit at a .310 clip since he regained a regular job.

Last night the brawny youngster started the Birds off to a 6-0 romp over Cincinnati on a double with the bases loaded in the first inning.

Young Sisler's father now is one of the top talent scouts for the team as the only scheduled game in Brooklyn Dodgers.

St. Louis' shutout over Cincinnati the national and was the only big league game played as threatening weather forced postponement of Chicago-New York and St. Louis-Boston tilts in the American league.

Records Broken At Track Opening

Camden, N. J., Aug. 20 (AP)—The 1946 opening of Camden's Garden State Park broke records—for attendance and betting.

Yesterday's crowd of 22,156, as compared to last year's 21,536, was the largest opening day gathering in the track's five-year history. And the mutual spending of $1,849,487 was nearly $400,000 better than last year's opening day high of $1,466,528.

Aside from that, the fans watched The Doge, a four-year-old colt by Bulldog-My Auntie, capture the $10,000-added Camden Handicap by an eight-length margin. He ran the six-furlong distance—the sixth race on an eight-event program—over a heavy track in the surprisingly fast time of 1:10 1/5.

MOUZON KAYOES MONTGOMERY

By TED MEIER

Philadelphia, Aug. 20 (AP)—Boxing Promoter Herman Taylor has come up with another "550 beauty" in 19-year-old Wesley Mouzon.

Mouzon leaped into the forefront as a lightweight contender last night by knocking out Champion Bob Montgomery in the second round of a non-title Philadelphia "natural" before 14,639 who contributed to a gross gate of $68,794.

Montgomery, whose title is recognized in New York and Pennsylvania, but not by the NBA, was stunned by a Mouzon right cross soon after the second round opened. As the 26-year-old champion sagged against the ropes, Mouzon hesitated a second, then sprang forward raining a hail of blows on the helpless Montgomery. Bob slowly sank to the canvas and was counted out in 1:49 of the round.

Mouzon was a mere $50 preliminary scrapper two years ago when Taylor saw his possibilities and began to help develop him. It is a testimonial to Taylor's matchmaking ability that Mouzon, managed by Montgomery's brother, Tom, now is a lightweight contender.

"He's another one of my $50 beauties," explained Taylor. "You remember how we developed Ray 'Sugar' Robinson, Tommy Forte and Montgomery himself. Now we've brought Mouzon up from far down the list."

"I think great things are ahead of Mouzon, but by the same token Montgomery is far from finished. You mark my words he'll come back stronger than ever."

The fight, scheduled for 12 rounds, was put on an hour earlier than the usual starting time because of a sudden downpour of rain. This unexpected development and the quick ending caused hundreds of persons to miss the action. The other bouts went on afterwards when the rain stopped after about 15 minutes.

The champion, a 5 to 11 favorite and like Mouzon weighing 137 pounds, offered no alibi.

"I guess I should have zigged instead of zagged," he commented wryly in the dressing room.

HOPP IN TIE WITH MUSIAL

New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—Johnny Hopp of Boston has moved into a first place tie with Stan Musial of St. Louis for the National league batting lead, according to averages including Sunday's games, but Mickey Vernon of Washington still held a comfortable 10-point margin in the American.

Although Hopp appeared in only two games during the past week he collected two hits in five trips to advance into a tie at .365 with Musial whose hot batting pace slipped off four points.

Dixie Walker of Brooklyn clung to third place at .359 followed by Johnny Mize of New York, whose average remained .339 because he continued to be sidelined by a hand injury. Sid Gordon of New York, climbed into fifth place at .307, one point ahead of Boston's Billy Herman at .306.

Others in the National league batting race were Phil Cavarretta of Chicago, the defending champion, .301; Stanky of Brooklyn, .300; Enos Slaughter of St. Louis, .299 and Tommy Holmes of Boston, .298.

Johnny Pesky Third
Vernon's .349 average gave him a 10-point spread over Teddy Williams, who at .339 was getting a stiff battle from his Boston teammate Johnny Pesky at .338. Luke Appling of Chicago was fourth at .320 and Dom DiMaggio of Boston and Hank Edwards of Cleveland were tied for fifth place at .317.

Detroit's George Kell tumbled 14 points to a seventh-place .308. He was followed by Lou Boudreau of Cleveland, and Barney McCosky of Philadelphia, tied at .306 and Vern Stephens of St. Louis, .299.

Youngstown Takes Two For Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

PIRATE VOTE WILL DECIDE FATE OF GUILD

Pittsburgh, Aug. 20 (AP)—Members of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team go to the polls today in the first collective bargaining election in baseball history.

In that vote, they can either tell Robert Murphy to say goodbye to his dream of a labor union for baseball players—at least for the time being—or they can approve his American baseball guild as their bargaining unit.

Murphy said he holds membership cards for 26 Pirates. Thirty-one are eligible to vote in balloting from 9:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time).

To rumors that the ball players had cooled toward the union since last June when they almost went out on strike, Murphy answered: "The players definitely feel that if they don't vote for the guild, the player-management committee will mean nothing. The players feel the club owners will forget all about them if nothing is hanging over their heads."

Some "Tricks" Left
Pressed as to his plans if the Pirates, despite his expectations, vote against the guild, Murphy declared: "I still have some tricks up my sleeve. Don't forget they thought I was licked before."

Earlier, the young Boston lawyer turned union organizer, had said the guild's future "depends on what happens in Pittsburgh."

At Indianapolis, Banker Frank McKinney, new president of the club, expressed surprise when he was told Murphy had announced he was meeting with the players in Chicago.

Sarlin Wins Easily From Buddy Komar

Pittsburgh, Aug. 20 (AP)—Heavyweight Erv Sarlin of Pittsburgh, belted his way to an easy win over Paul (Buddy) Komar of Boston, Pa., in a 10-round fight in Zivic Arena last night.

Komar, unsuccessful in an effort to outbox Sarlin, mixed it in the seventh and got in a couple of blows, only to go down for the count of nine after a smashing left hook to the ribs. The loser got credit for only two rounds. Sarlin weighed 183, Komar 184.

In another bout, Marion Klingensmith, 161, decisioned Tiger Lou Smith, 170, Cincinnati, in a six-round.

PROS SHOOTING SUB-PAR GOLF

By GAIL FOWLER

Portland, Ore., Aug. 20 (AP)—Easy-going Ernest J. "Dutch" Harrison and his hot putter led a par-shattering brigade of professional golfers over the Portland Golf club today in the second round of the 36-hole qualifier.

Twenty-eight of the 123 players teeing off yesterday broke par 72 on the 6,524-yard course, and eight of them matched par.

Seven strokes below perfect figures was drawing Dutch, with a 32-33-65.

There was much speculation as to what 36-hole score would qualify. Estimates ran all the way from 145 to 155.

Veteran Jimmy Hines of Chicago came in late in the day to post a pair of 33's to take the runner-up position in today's dash for medalist honors.

Ben Hogan Has 68

Knotted with 68's were Melvin "Chick" Harbert, long-hitting Northville, Mich., pro, and reliable little Ben Hogan, of Hershey, Pa.

Vic Ghezzi of Knoxville Tenn., 1941 PGA champ was the first in with a 69, and was followed by Jimmy Demaret, Houston, Tex., and ex-baseballer Sammy Byrd of Detroit.

Ten stars finished with 70 including defending Champion Byron "Aching Back" Nelson. After Nelson finished with his 36-34, he automatically qualifies.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"Bucket-a-day" water heaters are not only expensive to operate . . . they're a nuisance as well. Nothing is more exasperating than to turn on the hot water and get nothing but a tepid trickle, or clouds of scalding steam. But that's what you expect from a "bucket-a-day" water heater. All summer long they're all the trouble of a small coal furnace . . . coal must be stored, shoveled and carried; ashes must be removed and carried away; dirt and dust are unavoidable.

Modernize With Automatic Gas Water Heating
Gas eliminates all of your hot water worries. Fully automatic, Gas insures you of a plentiful, well regulated supply of hot water year around. Turn on the tap at any time of day or night and you have hot water at just the temperature you like. Plan now to switch to Gas . . . ask your Gas Appliance Dealer how little it costs or visit your Gas Company Office.

Don't put up with the inconvenience of a "bucket-a-day" coal water heater because people tell you it costs little or nothing to operate. Estimates show that the average family uses at least 35 gallons of hot water daily. It takes more coal than you might think to heat that water. The coal pot stove water heater burns fuel over a ton of coal

SAN DIEGO BOY DERBY WINNER

Akron, O., Aug. 20 (AP)—A 14-year-old San Diego, Calif., boy had played a $9.50 soapbox derby racer and a supply of graphite into a four-year college scholarship.

Versatile Gilbert Klecan, who also has won prizes in cooking and painting, annexed the first postwar all-American soapbox derby with a close victory in the finals over Dick Zoller of Cleveland.

Carrying the colors of the San Diego Journal, Klecan steered his blue, streamlined racer to the title with a time of 27.13 seconds for the 1,000 foot course. He barely edged Zoller, who represented the Cleveland News. Klecan competed in the soapbox event for the first time.

Two Months
The new champion said he spent two months in building his racer and that the total cost of the motorless craft amounted to $9.70.

How Pennsylvania's entries fared: Jerry O'Malley of Scranton, took heat 10 in round 1 as he crossed the finish line in 27:27 seconds. He turned in slightly faster time in the next round but was eliminated.

Gene Gilmore of Washington, won heat 32 in 27:07 seconds but was eliminated 17 heats later as he placed third.

Larry H. Jones of Harrisburg, was eliminated in the first round.

George Robert Mack of Philadelphia, placed second in his heat.

Theodore Udauskowski of Pottsville, was second in heat 8.

Anfred Lenio, Monessen, Pa., was third in heat 15.

Kenneth Bauder, Ellwood City, was third in heat 16.

David P. Lauler, Williamsport, placed second in his heat.

Lee Donner, Somerset, also was third in his heat.

Teddy Brosnan of Erie, was eliminated in heat 29.

Jack Campbell of Dubois, was eliminated in heat 37.

Today's Talk

A Little More Than Enough
George Gissing, in his charming little book "The Private Papers of Henry Ryecroft," said many beautiful and interesting things. Here is one of them: "But oh, how good it is to desire little, and to have a little more than enough!"

It takes some people a long time to realize that large possessions do not bring happiness. The happiest people I know are of modest means —with just a little more than enough. In other words, with a few happy-making things beyond the essentials for health and comfort.

A great part of the wide world is largely in our possession, so far as we are able to appreciate its free gifts. Free libraries are open to the masses. All Nature is a hunting ground for the one with a mind for discoveries. No book ever written contains so much as the Book of Nature—an open book to all!

The news of the world can be kept at our proverbial finger tips, as the saying goes. No one needs to be ignorant, with knowledge spread before him so lavishly on every hand.
Beyond our bodily care, the mind has an entire world in which to play! No one can know too much.
The more he learns the better equipped he is to understand others, and to grasp the significance of all happenings and discoveries.

The mind can keep desiring more and more, at the smallest cost. The cost is paid in alertness, in interesting contacts, and in the desire to know more. The intellectual and spiritual life is the larger life—to which the humblest may well aspire.

No days, for anyone, need be made dull and uninteresting. We all have much that we can give away, no matter how materially poor we may be. When one gives lavishly of himself, he has given greatly. A little more of this is never enough!

Every tree that I pass while walking through mossy paths these summer days gives more to me than any Croesus could. Every moving branch in the gentle wind has a welcoming nod for me, and I, in turn, reciprocate silently and with a spirit of reverence to the God who offers so much—without money and without price!

SECOND CHANCE
If the Lord should ask of me
What a second time I'd be—
If allowed another birth
On this sadly troubled earth,
I should answer: "Make me so I'll have friends where'er I go.

"Touch my hands with useful skill;
Give me courage, strength of will;
Give me breadth of heart and mind,
So that good in all I'll find.
Fair and honest I would be,
Even with an enemy.

"Grant me faith, when I must grieve,
In Thy goodness to believe.
Give me pity for the weak.
Make me slow in rage to speak."
These few gifts are all I ask For a second earthly task.

room was not only uninvited—but unappreciated. Katz, manager of the Commodore hotel, picked up

Sharp Attack On KKK Looms
In Georgia; Sued By State

(Second of a Series)
By HENRY LESENE
Atlanta, Aug. 20 (AP)—Georgia is the birthplace of the Ku Klux Klan, and it is here that the big fight to destroy the hooded order is taking shape.

The modern Klan came into being on Thanksgiving night, 1915, on Stone Mountain near Atlanta. In the early '20's it mushroomed into a national organization.

It was at the base of this same hunk of granite that the state order, apparently defunct a few years back, was revived in October of last year.

Membership Grows
Even at that time—before a mass full-regalia initiation meeting last spring drew the spotlight on the resurgent Klan—the Georgia Grand Dragon claimed a membership of 20,000.

The Grand Dragon, Dr. Samuel Green, an Atlanta physician, hasn't been giving out any membership figures lately, but he intimates the Georgia members now number several times that many.

Last month after Georgia nominated red-gallused Gene Talmadge for governor in the Democratic primary—the actual Georgia election—Green estimated 100,000 Klansmen or ex-Klansmen helped elect him.

Talmadge and the Klan have the same openly professed aim—to maintain the southern tradition of white supremacy and "to keep the nigger in his place."

Charges "Preposterous"
Green disclaims for the Klan any Jew, Catholic or CIO-baiting. He insists his order is law-abiding and has as much right to exist as the Masons.

To various charges or insinuations that the Klan might be involved in intimidation or terrorism of minority groups, Green replies:
"Preposterous. No telling what we'll be accused of next."

Soon after the recent lynchings of four negroes in Monroe county by an unmasked band of white men, Green issued a statement saying the Klan had nothing to do with it and deploring such lawlessness.

Fought By Press
The Klan was revived in Georgia at about the same time the CIO was mapping its organization campaign in the south and at the time the negro was being given the green light to vote in the primaries.

The fight on the Klan in Georgia is supported by the newspapers generally. It is spearheaded by Gov.
Ellis Arnall, who had the state legal department prepare a suit to revoke the Klan charter.

The suit, in Fulton county (Atlanta) Superior court, will be heard probably in the fall.

Green says his "Association of Georgia Klans" has no legal connections with the old "invisible empire" of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Went Underground In '44
The KKK went underground in 1944. The federal government was after it with a tax bill of $600,000.
A lien for this has recently been filed in Atlanta. Until 1942 the Klan maintained national headquarters here.

Dan Duke, an assistant attorney general who prosecuted some Klan flogging cases here a few years back, is handling the state's suit against the present organization.

He terms the Klan "the ragtag and bobtail of the old order" and says that Dr. Green's claims of no connection with the old Klan interferes not at all with the suit.

Arnall says the Klan has violated the non-profit and non-political provisions of its charter. He also charges it had engaged in unlawful acts—charges that Green denies.

In its suit the state charges the Klan's ultimate aim is to force its doctrines upon the state of Georgia by "violence, terrorism and hate and to organize police officers, taxicab drivers and others so it can seize the state government."

Rice Asks Higher Teachers' Salaries

Lockhaven, Pa., Aug. 20 (AP)—Declaring that thousands of teachers earn less than $35 a week, Col. John S. Rice urged Saturday that their salaries be boosted to ease a teacher shortage in the state and provide them "a standard of living proper to their profession."

The Democratic nominee for governor told a Democratic meeting here last night that Pennsylvania ranked 19th among other states in average annual salaries of teachers, paying slightly more than $1,700 as against $2,500 in New York and $2,000 in New Jersey. He added:

"One of the chief reasons for this miserable showing is the fact that the heaviest burden of school costs falls on local communities, which just aren't able to pay it.
They have only one major source of revenue—real estate—and real estate can't do it all."

DPA Medical Bill
$110,000 A Month

Harrisburg, Aug. 20 (AP)—The Department of Public Assistance pays approximately $110,000 a month for medical care for those receiving aid from the commonwealth.

Robert P. Wray, Secretary of Public Assistance, said yesterday the costs include services given by physicians, dentists, clinics, nurses, and pharmacists.

He estimated that the medical care program for recipients of state relief costs at the rate of $4.80 a month per patient, or an average of 42 cents a person for everyone on the assistance rolls.

Rice Urges State Marketing Service

Millifinburg, Pa., Aug. 20 (AP)—Col.
John S. Rice, Democratic candidate for governor, said the farmer of Pennsylvania needs "a real effective marketing service" to let the world know "Pennsylvania products are superior and should bring premium prices."

He said in a campaign speech
Saturday night that people know about Idaho and Maine potatoes
"because those states did a real selling job on a product that is in no way better, and in many ways inferior when compared with Pennsylvania's potatoes."

BIG ENROLLMENT
Grove City, Pa., Aug. 20 (AP)—Enrollment at Grove City college next month is expected to reach a record 1,050, an increase of 25 per cent over the average of past years. College officials said lack of housing prevented even a greater registration.

HALF MILLION
WAR VETERANS
TAKE TRAINING

(Editor's note: This is the last of three articles describing the on-the-job training program for veterans.)
Washington, Aug. 20 (AP)—Almost half a million veterans of World War II are taking training on the job under the GI Bill of Rights.
They represent 40 per cent of all veterans enrolled under the GI bill's educational provisions.

Many of the half-million job trainees are throwing away educational privileges which over the four-year maximum period of GI schooling could represent $9,500 worth of free education. They're throwing away this education because they're using up their allotted time in on-the-job training programs which neither give training nor lead to better jobs.

An official of the retraining and reemployment administration (RRA) told me something else. He said he couldn't substantiate it, but he was certain it could be proved if facilities were available to do so. He said some employers get veterans to sign up for on-the-job training and then split with the veteran the $65 or $90 government subsistence allowance.

State To Get Funds
Some veterans, out of work and clothed in mental khaki, are willing to make such an arrangement. It assures them a small income for up to four years, depending upon how much GI education time they earned in the service.

The reason it's possible for employers and veterans to get together on a scheme like this in some states is that the states, which have the responsibility of supervising job-training outfits, claim they can't afford to do the supervising.

States will soon get funds to keep an eye peeled for all unscrupulous job-training practices. The president last week signed a bill which will accomplish this end.

The same law establishes a set of "minimum standards" to which all state approval agencies must conform. These minimum standards should go far toward eliminating evil practices on the part of both employers and veterans in the job-training program.

WALLECTECTOMY
Litchfield, Ill., (AP)—Three sura middle-aged man who carried a medicine case and "looked like a

But when the surgeons repaired to the adjoining coat room after the operation, they found their wallets —and $600—were gone. So was the "doctor."

Someone To Believe In

By Helen R. Woodward

Chapter 30

Arnie jumped up and took both of Greer's hands in a warm grip. "Surprised to see me darling? But didn't you know I couldn't live without you — that I was sure to come back some day?"

Greer stared at him unbelievably. He looked fit and attractive and his well-known charm was functioning perfectly. He hadn't grown older, he was still the spoiled child of doting parents, he'd still be good company, adoring and most of the time kind. In fact, Arnie Hewitt hadn't changed in any particular that she could see from the boy whom she had once adored so blindly, so utterly.

And yet it was as if a perfect stranger stood before her. No one had been further from her thoughts than Arnie, and in view of the developments of this full, exciting evening, he now seemed like a being from another world.

He drew her into his arms and kissed her soundly before she realized what he was doing. He was talking fast, as usual expecting to sweep all things before his own desires. He apparently thought he had everything under complete control! "Darling, I finally convinced the folks that I'd had quite enough of sunny California, and that if I stayed a million years I'd still be in love with you! So I hopped a plane and came home. Now that I've held you I can't live without you, what do you say? Let's set the wedding day soon! Shall we?"

She couldn't understand what he was talking about until it suddenly dawned on her that he was still expecting her to marry him. After ditching her flatly when she had needed him most, after his mother had made her feel unworthy and undesirable, Arnie had come back to her! He evidently had his parents' full consent, too! Why? Was it because in the end they could not deny him anything? Was she any different than she'd been before? What had happened to change their minds? She groaned inwardly as the thought of how much all this would have meant to her when she had stood so alone and helpless.

"Look here, Arnie Hewitt!" she said sharply, drawing herself out of his embrace. "Are you trying to tell me that you still expect me to marry you?"

He gave her a look of surprise. "Of course. You love me, don't you?"

"As a matter of fact, Arnie — this is going to be hard for you to bear, I know — I haven't given you a thought in months!"

That seemed to stump him for a moment, then he went on blithely: "That's because you haven't seen me for a long time! You know the old adage — 'out of sight, out of mind.' But we'll soon remedy all that, won't we?"

Suddenly Greer was laughing, a bit wildly at first, then a steady, growing merriment possessed her, until she felt swept clean of all the hard, harsh things that had happened to her because of this boy. She couldn't call him a man. Arnie would never be a truly adult person. But if she had married him she'd never have known heartache and disappointment and discouragement — and real love! She'd never really have known Rocky Alverston. She'd never have gone through an experience like tonight when all doubts and fears had been banished until she stood now free and unafraid.

She shook with laughter. Seeing Arnie, hearing him talk, was like looking back on the ghost of herself — a selfish, arrogant ghost who demanded everything and gave nothing.

Finally Arnie got angry and took her by the shoulders and shook her hard. "By golly, I don't see anything so blamed funny about all this! When a man offers a woman his love, his protection—"

She dried her eyes and conquered her laughter. "Of course it isn't really funny, Arnie. I guess you just startled me so—"

He relaxed. "Yeah — I guess you're pretty excited over seeing me—"

The doorbell rang shrilly, and Greer was vividly alive, her face glowing with the brightness of mingled hope and happiness. "Excuse me, Arnie. I have another visitor."

She opened the door and Rocky stood there, and she knew that he was everything she could ever possibly want or dream of. Dependability, unwavering strength, high courage and a pride that asked and gave no quarter — a pride that did not beg and whine for favors, but proved his right to them before accepting them. She swayed toward him, yearning over him.

But Rocky's eyes had gone beyond her and had seen Arnie Greer standing there. The man Greer had once loved so madly, and who now, it seemed, had come back to her. He stepped back uncertainly and the smile he gave them both had a small sardonic twist. Then he was turning away. "Sorry, Greer. I wouldn't have interrupted if I'd known—"

But Greer had stood too much from these two already! She reached out and grasped Rocky's arm, and held it fiercely.

State Production Of Milk Declines

Harrisburg, Aug. 20 (AP)—Milk production declined in Pennsylvania in July for the second straight month, the average falling two per cent below the production for July of 1945 and five per cent under June of this year.

Miles Horst, state Secretary of Agriculture attributed the decline to a seasonal falling off in production and a scarcity of dairy feed, pointing out that the grain for feeding was at its lowest level in three years.

Horst said there were 5,000 fewer milch cows on farms in July than in January, and a total drop of 16,000 since February of 1945.

New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—Funeral services for Channing Pollock, author and playwright who died Saturday, were held at 2 p. m. today at the "Little Church Around the Corner" here. Pollock, who was 66 years old, died at his summer home in Shoreham, Long Island. He suffered a stroke Friday and remained unconscious until his death.

TRAFFIC TOLL 'WORSE THAN WAR:' MARTIN

Harrisburg, Aug. 20 (AP)—Governor Martin termed Pennsylvania's traffic fatality record "worse than war" Monday as state newspapers announced they will contribute $500,000 in space in the next four months to highway safety programs.

The governor said in an address that he delivered before a conference of school, motor club and government officials that "an almost unbelievable degree of carelessness and selfishness" is evident in statistics showing that traffic fatalities in Pennsylvania jumped 60.6 per cent in the first half of 1946, compared with the corresponding period last year.

Stanley W. Calkins, Uniontown publisher, and president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association, announced the highway safety publicity campaign to the conference, which Governor Martin called to attack the problem of mounting traffic fatalities.

There were 98,163 casualties among Pennsylvanians in World War II, the governor told the conference, while there were 146,035 casualties on highways of the state. Both figures included deaths and injuries.

"I do not have to tell you that after V-J Day" conditions became worse," Martin said. "In January of 1946 traffic deaths were twice as great in Pennsylvania as in January, 1945."

As a partial solution to the problem, he suggested:

"Only by thorough and well-planned courses in safety education, using precept and practice, plus a strict enforcement program backed by enlightened public opinion, and utilizing every available force in the community, can we hope to reduce these alarming figures to new low levels representing only unavoidable and unpredictable happenings that form part of the daily hazard common to us all."

Eight Teams Listed In Basketball Loop

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 20 (AP)—Only eight teams, and not the suggested 12-group circuit, will operate in the Eastern Professional Basketball league during the 1946-47 season.

The loop President William D. Morgan announced after a meeting last night that teams representing Binghamton, N. Y., and Scranton, Carbondale, Wilkes-Barre, Hazleton, Allentown, Reading and Lancaster in Pennsylvania, will field teams.

The following officers were elected: President, Robert Sell, Gettysburg; vice president, Stanley R. Sell, Littlestown; and secretary-treasurer, Kenneth Sell, Littlestown. Plans were discussed for next year's meeting, and for the beginning of the Sell history. The 1947 reunion will be held on the third Sunday in August in Christ Church grove.

Baby Plays While Mother Shoots Self

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 20 (AP)—Eight-months-old James Harvey Troxell played unconcernedly in the living room of his home yesterday afternoon while his mother, Naomi Troxell, lay dead of a pistol wound which Dr. Daniel Replegle, Blair county coroner, said was self-inflicted.

A 13-year-old daughter, Adele, who worked in a store next door, came home to find her mother dead. The husband, James W. Troxell, was absent at the time of the tragedy.

FRAULEINS HAVE GERMAN SINATRA FOR NEW IDOL

By IRENE ANGERSTEIN

Berlin, Aug. 20 (AP)—Germany's frauleins have a new idol in Bully Buhlan, pale and fragile, 22-year-old German counterpart of Frank Sinatra.

There was no dancing in the aisles when Bully began singing last spring.

"The girls were too busy chasing chocolate bars and most of the aisles were buried under debris," explains Bully ruefully with a boyish grin, and, "I got letters from angry men telling me to go out and take a training course for rebuilding. Now the women tell me of their broken hearts."

"He Looks Hungry and I Am"

There is a good deal of Sinatra in Bully: the same youthful timid approach; the same feeling of sincerity in every song; the same contrast between a bashful, nice-looking boy and a voice which is more alluring to the frauleins than American canned goods.

"I guess about the only difference between Frankie and me is that he looks hungry and I am hungry," Bully grins.

Bully wants to be a business man. "This sort of thing is all right for the present," says Bully pointing to a huge pile of mail received after one of his radio Berlin broadcasts, "but you cannot rely on a bunch of adoring women forever. Give me a good business any day."

"Sexy Eyebrows"

Although Bully sings before capacity audiences to high waves of applause he has no illusions about German conversion to a liking for American jazz.

"Only last August," explains Bully, "the people still spoke of 'negroid' music. I'll take years before we Germans realize that American jazz and swing expresses the music of this age just as the Strauss waltz expressed the Victorian period."

Considering the current furor over the young man with the "sexy eyebrows" — as one fraulein described him — Bully may be wrong.

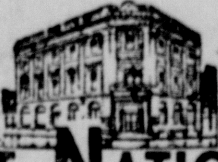

POLISHED OFF

Moultrie, Ga., (AP)—Mrs. J. H. Simcoe waxed her floors and, tired after a busy day, went to bed. A few hours later she was awakened by a loud thud. Mrs. Simcoe hurried into the living room in time to find that a prowler had slipped and fallen on the polished floor. He managed to escape through the back door.
